The English Tea House and Restaurant

A Legacy of Colonial Grandeur

Revisit idyllic days spent in lush gardens amidst the profound tranquility of tropical Sandakan. Imagine quiet chatter between friends, and the thrilling excitement of spectacular parties. Recall the bygone era revived today in full splendour at The English Tea House & Restaurant.

The English Tea House is superbly situated within the grounds of the historic Agnes Keith House Museum, and is housed in a meticulously renovated colonial house surrounded by 1.5 acres of perfectly manicured lawns.

We invite you to recapture the days of yore and create your own memories...

Relax and soak in the glorious ambience

Immerse yourself in the tranquil surroundings of The English Tea House & Restaurant. With enveloping fresh greenery and cool, blowing breezes, you can enjoy the spectacular views of the town and Sandakan Bay as you relax with a cocktail in the restaurant, socialise with friends and family in a garden gazebo, or enjoy a wide selection of beverages at the long bar.

Anyone for Croquet?

Dating back to the early 1800's, the sport of English Croquet became an extremely popular lawn game suitable for men, women & families alike. Croquet spread quickly, and by 1870 had reached British North Borneo. Now at the English Tea House & Restaurant, you can test your skills on our manicured Croquet lawn and have fun knocking the coloured balls through hoops with our traditional Croquet mallets.

With so much to enjoy and experience, visit us anytime, day or night and you can be sure of a good old time!

*The English Tea House & Restaurant is also available for private hire & meetings/functions/garden parties.
